5:00 – 6:00 PM Pre-Meeting Technical: Internal Training for Internal Auditing – A Great Race.

Training and developing audit team members in audit practices and documentation is one of the best investments a company can make. Companies need to make sure the training is “effective” – that employees are indeed learning from the training. You know how boring it is to go over an ISO standard at a seminar; how much do you think your internal auditors are getting out of this training? Micki Dom will talk about one proven method to help employees learn more, have fun doing it and better your internal audit program. Micki is the Quality/Regulatory Manager for Volk Optical Inc., a medical device manufacturer. Micki is a certified Quality Auditor, Quality Engineer, and Reliability Engineer with over 25 years experience.

Dinner will be at 6:00 – 7:00 PM.

Presentation at 7 PM - This Is Jeopardy! ... Quality Jeopardy that is.

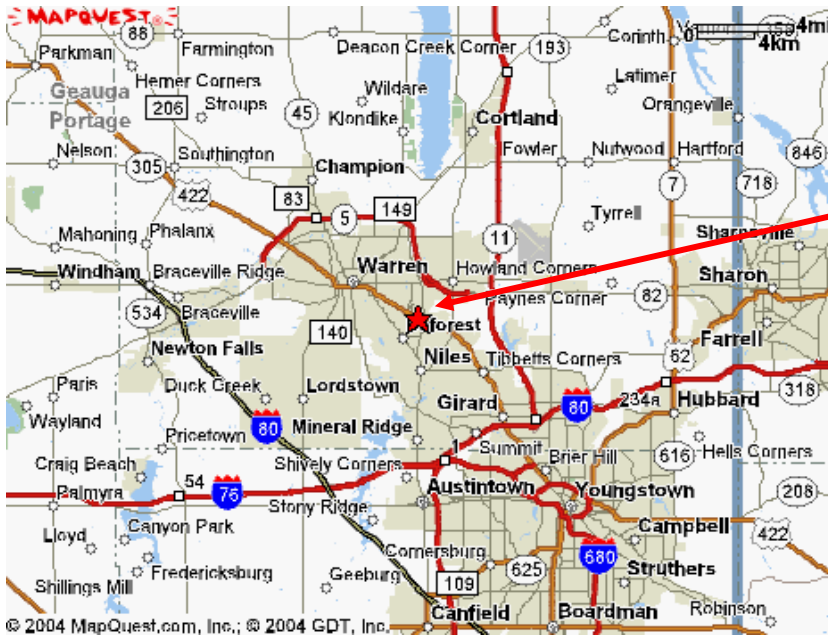

Come join us for an evening of FUN and EDUCATION with a trivia game presentation resembling the popular TV show. Janet Book, our own "Alex Trebeck," will facilitate the evening's activities challenging attendees with such topics as: "Auditing 101," "Quality Gurus," and "QAD BoK" to name a few. Prizes will be given out to the team with the winning score.

Ms. Janet Book has worked in a wide variety of industries, which includes blood banking, food processing, quality consulting, pharmaceuticals, and medical devices with such companies as Bayer Corporation, Becton Dickinson, Columbia Quality Inc., Respironics, Serono-Baker Diagnostics, and Symbiosis Corporation.

Ms. Book is a senior member of the ASQ, an ASQ Certified Quality Auditor, an ASQ Certified Quality Engineer, an ASQ Certified Manager of Quality / Organizational Excellence, an RAB Quality Systems Lead Auditor and a trained Six Sigma Black Belt. In addition, Ms. Book has served as the Vice Chair of Administration and Vice Chair of Technology for the Quality Audit Division (QAD). She has also served twice as the Quality Audit Conference Chair. Currently, Ms. Book is the Audit Division Region 8 Regional Councilor.
